Jardin Massey

This wonderful garden, classified « jardin remarquable », was created by Tarbes-born Placide Massey, horticulturalist for Queen Hortense under the Empire and Director of Versailles' kitchen garden. The whole family will be enchanted by the variety of tree species, the cloister with roman arcades, the majestic paths, the water that runs throughout the entire park and the fragrance of thousands of flowers. The garden is home to the Musée Massey, distinguished by its 40-metre high Moorish tower, as well as various animals. Weather permitting, enjoy a horse-drawn carriage ride and discover the garden at a relaxing pace. Jardin Massey is beautiful all year round - the ideal place to take a break or enjoy the activities on offer!

Notre-Dame-de-la-Sède Cathedral

Erected in the 12th century with bricks and pebbles from the river Adour, it is the oldest monument in Tarbes and is located in the historic center, characterised by its cobbled streets. The cathedral has largely remained Romanesque in style with its lantern tower reminiscent of the churches of the Lavedan in the heart of the Pyrenees. The 18th century western façade constructed in the classical style is more surprising. Inside, the remarkable high altar and its baroque canopy are the main decorative elements and testify to the richness of Pyrenees marble.

The +'s

- The cathedral has kept its Latin name "de la sède" meaning "seat of the bishop".
- Keep an eye out for the testament of Louis XVI engraved on a black marble wall!
